FRANCIS JOSEPH

FOUR SCORE AND TWO

Vienna, Aug. 17.—Emperor Francis Joseph will celebrate his 82nd birthday anniversary tomorrow in a quiet way at his summer villa in Ischl. Public celebrations will be held throughout the entire monarchy.

Francis Joseph was born at Vienna, August 18, 1830, as the eldest son of Archduke Francis and a nephew of Emperor Ferdinand I, who ruled from 1835 to 1848. Ferdinand abdicated on December 2, 1848, amid the turbulent scenes that threatened the dissolution of the Empire, and his brother, the Archduke Francis, having surrendered his claims to the tottering throne, his son, Francis, Joseph, became Emperor of Austria, though he was not crowned king of Hungary until June 8, 1867. At the time of Francis Joseph's ascension to the Austrian throne, Hungary was in a state of revolution, and, with Kossuth as governor, declared itself a republic in 1849.

Charles Albert, of Sardinia, again took up arms against Austria in Italy. Austria triumphed, however, both in Italy and Hungary and the Emperor devoted himself to the re-establishment of his authority. In 1859 he was forced to face a war with France and Sardinia, which ended with loss of the Lombardy. A reconstruction of the monarchy on a dualistic basis was effected in 1867. In 1854 the emperor married Princess Elizabeth of Bavaria, who was assassinated by an anarchist about eleven years ago. The emperor's only son, Crown Prince Rudolph, was found dead in a hunting lodge in 1890.

One Cent Rate for Sheriffs.

The Corporation Commission has issued an order directed to all of the railroads in the state in connection with the case filed by the Sheriffs' association of the state, requiring the companies to grant a rate of one cent per mile to the sheriff of each county and two deputies to be designated by him. Credentials are to be issued, similar to the clergy permits now in general use. The sheriffs, in asking the reduced rate, showed that many cases they had to go in search of criminals at their own expense and represented that there would be greater activity along that line if the expense were not so great.

NEWS FORECAST FOR THE COMING WEEK

Washington, Aug. 17.—The formal notification of the Democratic and Republican nominees for vice president will be among the leading events of the week in relation to the national campaign. The notification of Governor Thomas R. Marshall, the running mate of Woodrow Wilson, on the Democratic ticket, will take place in Indianapolis Tuesday. The ceremony will be held at the State fair grounds and is to be made the occasion of a big Democratic demonstration. The chief features of the program will be the notification speech by Judge Alton B. Parker, of New York, and Governor Marshall's address of acceptance.

Vice President Sherman will be notified of his renomination at his home in Utica. The entertainment will start Tuesday evening with a band concert, fireworks and a parade. The formal ceremonies will be held the following day in Roscoe Conkling park. Senator Sutherland, of Utah, has been selected to make the notification address.

Georgia Democrats will engage in a general primary election Wednesday, when a preference vote will be taken for United States senator and candidate named for governor and other state officers to be voted on for the coming election. It is expected that United States Senator Bacon will be named to succeed himself. Chief interest centers in the contest for the governorship between John M. Clayton, of Atlanta, and Joe Hill Hall, of Macon.

Republicans of Delaware will hold their state convention in Dover on Tuesday for the nomination of a complete state ticket and three candidates for presidential electors.

The President and Mrs. Taft and many other notable men and women have accepted invitations to attend the garden party to be held Friday on the magnificent John Hays Hammond estate at Gloucester, Mass., for the purpose of raising funds with which to erect a memorial arch in Washington to the memory of the men who went down with the Titanic.

Of interest in church circles will be the consecration of Mgr. Georges Gauthier as bishop of Philadelphopolis and auxiliary bishop of Montreal. The ceremony is to take place in Montreal on Saturday.

Saturday is day set for the official welcome to be given in New York in honor of the victorious American athletes, who took part in the recent Olympic games at Stockholm. The program will include a great parade down Broadway, to be followed by the ceremonies of welcome at the City Hall and a grand banquet in the evening at Terrace Garden.

Among the conventions of the week will be the American Apple Growers' congress at St. Louis, the annual meeting of the Federation of Catholic Societies at Louisville, the national reunion of the Loyal Order of Moose at Kansas City, and the annual meeting of the National Negro Business league at Chicago.

TAFT WILL APPROVE PENSION APPROPRIATION

Washington, Aug. 17.—President Taft expects to sign the $160,000,000 pension appropriation bill and thousands of veterans and their descendants who have been practically without their usual government aid for many weeks, will cash their checks.

As soon as the president signs the bill, the sub-treasuries will be ordered by wire to immediately honor the drafts of the 18 outlying pension agencies, which by the provision of the law which so long delayed its passage, will go out of existence on January 31, 1913. After that date the pension bureau in Washington will mail checks direct.

The pension agencies probably will be dismantled and their records taken to Washington gradually. The first agencies to be abandoned will be at Knoxville, Indianapolis, Louisville, New York, Philadelphia and Topeka. The others will be brought in at intervals after their regular payments are made. The change throws 235 clerks out of office.

C. W. Ben and Reggar Floyd were called to Hugo this morning by the serious illness of their sister, Mrs. Westbrook. She has been ill a long time and is not expected to survive.

CHANCE TO ADVERTISE PONTOTOC

MAY SEND 5,000 OPEN BOLLS OF COTTON TO DRY FARMING CONGRESS IN CANADA.

R. E. Blanks is in receipt of a communication from Marie Woodson, of the State Board of Agriculture, inviting Pontotoc County to participate in an advertising scheme that will cost practically nothing. The plan is to send with the special exhibit car that will be taken to the Dry Farming Congress at Lethbridge, Canada, 50,000 open bolls of cotton, each tagged with a souvenir from the place furnishing it. Pontotoc county is invited to supply 5,000 of these bolls. There could be no cheaper way of advertising than this, the printing of the tags being practically the only expense.

The Congress will be composed of delegates from the entire western part of the United States and Canada, the majority of whom never saw a boll of cotton and who would hold these souvenirs as curiosities. As the delegates will be mostly from among the best class of farmers, this plan might be the means of interesting some substantial men to this section and cause them to move here.

Mr. Blanks would like to know at once what interest all classes have in the matter, for the time is very short now.

BOYS' SWIM PROVES RATHER COSTLY

Friday afternoon the police brought nine boys before Mayor Ratliff on charge of violating the city ordinance forbidding swimming in the city reservoir. Two of them were released and the others were fined $5 each.

The police and mayor have also been making it a trifle interesting for those who disregarded the warning about riding bicycles on the sidewalks, and as a result that practice has about stopped.

The defeat of Oliver H. Akin, the author of the so-called Akin school bill, in his campaign for re-election to the legislature shows beyond a matter of doubt that a man who tries to tear down institutions of learning is not popular, even in his own community. Akin, no doubt, originated this bill, hoping to gain some political notoriety, but fate seems to have been against him. The good people of Norman and surrounding community,

CATARRH MISERIES FOREVER ENDED

A Simple, Safe Remedy Brings Instant Relief, Even in the Worst Cases.

The quickest, safest and best way to cure catarrh is by using a remedy that will touch the spot and do its work quickly without leaving any bad effects. Ely's Cream Balm, which is applied to the nostrils or rubbed on the throat or chest, gets right at the root of the trouble, and instantly relieves even the worst case of catarrh. In a few minutes after applied, you can feel a loosening up in the head, the pain and soreness are gone, the sense of taste, smell and hearing come back, and you feel like a different person.

Ely's Cream Balm cleanses, heals and strengthens the inflamed membranes, stops the nasty discharge which makes the breath foul and causes the disgusting hawking, spitting and blowing. Hay fever victims who are made miserable with fits of sneezing and coughing get instant relief by the use of this simple remedy.

Don't suffer with catarrh another day. Ely's Cream Balm will relieve you immediately, and a fifty cent bottle will more than likely effect a complete cure. Special Agents—Gwin & Mays Drug Company.

TEDDY SWIPED THEIR PLATFORM

The Appeal to Reason, the oracle of Socialism, is very wroth at Teddy, the Terrible, because of the unblushing theft of the principal planks of the Socialist platform and the possible roping in of a lot of Socialist voters. Says the Appeal:

I would be untrue to the cause I love and to the comrades who support the Appeal did I not warn you that we must not deceive ourselves by the surface indications that Socialism is sweeping the country.

We should keep constantly in mind that a very great many of these enthusiasts who applaud the Socialist message are not yet thoroughly grounded in the revolutionary doctrine of our movement and there is great danger of many of them being carried away by the Roosevelt 11th hour convention.

"Shrewd political observers two months ago placed the Socialist vote as high as three million. This was before Roosevelt plunged into the arena after a theft and made the steam roller gang's performance at Chicago look like a one-ring circus. Before this campaign had proceeded far, a considerable number of these three million votes, conceded to the Socialists by our opponents, will be following the red bandana adopted as the emblem of the Progressive party."

"It is a stupendous task the Socialists have to line up in impregnable battle array all these puzzled and perplexed men and women. BUT WE MUST DO IT! This is our year—YES, IF WE MAKE IT OUR YEAR."

First Methodist Church.

Services at the First Methodist church tomorrow will be held as usual:

Sunday school at 9:45.
Preaching at 11 a. m. Subject: "Infant Baptism the Practice of the Fathers."

Young People's League at 7 p. m.
Preaching at 8 p. m. Subject: "Infant Baptism Under the Great Commission."

The two sermons Sunday will be the last of the series on the subject of infant baptism. With the close of the evening sermon every point in the question will have been discussed. The general public is cordially invited to hear the discussions and to attend all the other services of our church. We will always do our best to make the services profitable.

Grand Round-Up of the Moose.

Kansas City, Aug. 17.—The advance guard of the 20,000 visitors expected in Kansas City next week for the annual national convention of the Loyal Order of Moose put in an appearance today. Tonight and tomorrow special trains will arrive with large delegations from cities throughout the United States and Canada. The downtown section of the city is a mass of flags and bunting in honor of the convention visitors. The gathering will be formally opened Monday with a public session in convention hall. The program covers five days and is replete with interesting features of social entertainment. The Canadian delegations propose to make a hard fight for next year's convention of the order. Both Toronto and Winnipeg are applicants.

Order to U. S. C. V.

Muskogee, Okla., Aug. 17.—At the headquarters Oklahoma division, Sons of Confederate Veterans, general order No. 14 was issued Friday, as follows: To all brigade and camp commanders of Oklahoma division: You are hereby ordered to select delegates and alternates to the state convention, United Sons of Veterans, to be held at Ada, Okla., Sept. 4, 5 and 6, 1912. Each camp is entitled to one vote for each ten members in good standing and no camp will be allowed representation to vote in the state convention unless you have previously paid your dues to the national organization.

The order was signed by Tate Brady, Major General commanding the Oklahoma division, and Brant H. Kirk, Adjutant General Chief of Staff.

Governor W. N. Guy is over from Sulphur on business today. This pioneer was governor of the Chickasaw Nation from 1886 to 1888. He is also a Confederate Veteran. He says he will be back to Ada for the reunion.

This afternoon L. Rock brought in the biggest peaches seen in the News office this season. Three of these beauties weighed two pounds. He said that the tree from which he picked them bore about a bushel and a half.

Mrs. Lura Skinner and children returned this afternoon from a visit to relatives at Purcell. They were accompanied home by their cousins, Mrs. J. P. Crews and son, Jack, of San Angelo, Texas.

Three good pictures at the Lyric this evening, "The Way of the West," a strong western drama, "Back Heart," a beautiful Indian drama, and a farce comedy entitled "Bill Endeavors to Do His Own Washing." The last will chase all trace of the blues.

A great deal has been written about life with a circus, and this evening the patrons of the Majestic will have an opportunity of seeing just how things are run behind the scenes. In addition to this Edison's great comedy, "The High Cost of Living," will keep the audience in a high good humor. The method offered for the solution of the problem does not work out altogether as expected, but it is all the more amusing from that very reason. Coming soon: "The Siege of Petersburg."

Phillips on Matrimony.
The late David Graham Phillips had, like many bachelors, a cynical view of matrimony. Mr. Phillips, at a reunion of Princeton's class of '87, at the Princeton club, said of marriage: "The Persians have a proverb that every young man should consider well before proposing. It runs: 'He that ventureth on matrimony is like unto one who thrusteth his hand into a sack containing many thousands of serpents and one eel. Yet, if the prophet so will it, he may draw forth the eel.'"

SENATE SUSTAINS

Taft's VETOES

Washington, Aug. 17.—The senate voted to sustain the vetoes of the president on the wool and metal tariff revision bills. On the metal bill the motion to override the president did not even obtain a majority. On neither measure did the vote approach the necessary two thirds.

Senator Simmons called up the metal bill, which was first disposed of. Without debate a roll-call vote was taken and 32 members voted in favor of overriding the veto. Thirty-eight voted against passage. No Republicans voted to pass the bill.

Senator LaFollette made the motion to repass the wool bill. He asserted that the bill was a protective tariff measure and was framed according to the tariff board's report. He compared the tariff board's report with the bill. He asserted that the failure of the president to accept the "judgement of congress" was usurpation of power.

Senator Heyburn answered Mr. LaFollette and denounced the bill as a Democratic measure. When the vote finally was taken 39 senators voted in favor of passing the bill and 36 against it. The following Republicans voted with the Democrats to override the wool veto: Bristow, Clapp, Crawford, LaFollette, Poindexter and Works.

TOTAL VOTE FOR 4TH DISTRICT CONGRESSMAN

C. D. Carter's total vote for re-election as congressman was 18,807. Stanley received 5,474, and Parsons 1,062. Carter carried every county in the district except Choctaw, Stanley's home county. The vote there was 607 for Carter and 745 for Stanley.

ADVENTISTS WILL HOLD MEETING AT OKLAHOMA CITY

Oklahoma City, Aug. 17.—One of the largest camp-meetings ever held in this city will be at the Oklahoma conference of Seventh Day Adventists, August 22 to September 1. About 200 tents for living purposes and six or seven large canvas pavilions where the different services will be held will be pitched just north of the Lincoln School building. It is expected that about 2,000 Seventh-Day Adventists, from practically all the churches in the Oklahoma Conference, will be in daily attendance.

There are 70 churches in the Oklahoma Conference located in this city, Okmulgee, Muskogee, Guthrie, Cement, Wewoka, Stillwater, Oakwood, Kiel, Waurika, Hitchcock, Crescent, Alva, Shattuck, Norman, Catsby, Meno, Trail and several other places. The Adventists are looking forward to the coming camp-meeting with pleasure, and interesting services are promised. Not only will practically all of the ministers of the Conference be present, but several of the leading ministers from other conferences will also be present.

ADA GIRLS AT SASAKWA.

Saturday afternoon Misses Mollie Russell, Beuna Nolen, Cytle Young, Caroline Prewette, Clara and Callie Lilly, of Ada visited Miss Zona Cummings. Sunday Mr. C took the bunch together with Misses Sadie Lovelace, Laura Weedn, and as many of the Cummings tribe as could find places to hang on in McPherson's auto mule Bill to the South Canadian river.

After a good long wale and swim, luncheon was served by a beautiful cool spring. The only thing to mar the pleasure was that the auto mule, Bill, had eaten the chicken. Returning home a slumber party was enjoyed by all.

Monday the crowd went tramping over the beautiful country surrounding Sasakwa, capturing the Culy school, taught by the talented Misses Lovelace and Templeton. Coming home they were chased by some hungry crows and escaped by climbing trees, dodging under barb wire fences and running. At 6:30 p. m. a three-course luncheon was served the family by the guests. The family survived.

Tuesday the seven pu in 8 straight angling for Henry one of our pharmacists, but Henry was wise and refused to be angled. They tried all the wiles of the sor, even to surrounding the drug store, but he fled by way of the window, fire escape and adjoining buildings. From 8 p. m. until 11:30 the young ladies were royally entertained by Mrs. Hugh Twinam, most of the time being spent in dancing, after which delicious refreshments were served.

At 10:30 Wednesday the bunch returned to Ada, declaring they had had the time of their lives. As stated above the Cummings family survived the luncheon, but Mrs. Cummings is just about all in. It seems that the children had got used to the din caused by the talking, romping crowd, and now they cannot sleep without it, and Mrs. Cummings has to stay up and beat tin pans and ring cow bells so the little ones can sleep.—Sasakwa Life.

On their return from their Sasakwa trip, Misses Buena Nolen, Caroline Prewette, Clara and Callie Lilly and Cytle Young spent a few hours with Miss Grace Rushing at Francis.

DON'T DELAY

Some Ada People Have Learned That Neglect Is Dangerous.

The slightest symptom of kidney trouble is far too serious to be overlooked. It's the small, neglected troubles that lead to serious kidney ailments. That pain in the "small" of your back; that urinary irregularity; those headaches and dizzy spells; that weak, weary, worn-out feeling may be nature's warning of dropsy, or fatal Bright's diseases. Why risk your life by neglecting these symptoms? Reach the cause of the trouble while there is yet time—begin treating your kidneys at once with a tried and proven kidney remedy. No need to experiment—Doan's Kidney Pills have been curing kidney trouble for over 75 years. Doan's Kidney Pills are used and recommended throughout the civilized world. Endorsed at home. Read Ada testimony.

Mrs. W. C. Cantrew, Stockton avenue and Seventh street, Ada, Okla., says: "When I suffered from backache and my kidneys were disordered I was advised to use Doan's Kidney Pills, and did so. They restored my kidneys to a normal condition and removed the pains. I am pleased to recommend this remedy to any one who feels in need of it."

But 'twouldn't be any use. I can't do it."

He snatched his hat from the table and strode toward the door. Turning, he looked at her.

"All right," he said chokingly. "All right. Good-by."

His steps sounded on the oilcloth of the kitchen. Then the back door slammed. He was gone.

Keziah started, as if the slam of the door had been an electric shock. And she cried, tears of utter loneliness and despair.

The clouds thickened as the afternoon passed. There came a knock at the dining-room door.

Keziah sprang from her chair, smoothed her hair, hastily wiped her eyes and went to admit the visitor, whoever he or she may be. She was glad of the shadows, they prevented her face from being seen too plainly.

"Good afternoon," she said, opening the door. "Oh! It's you, is it?"

"Yes," admitted Abishai Pepper, standing on the stone step, and shifting uneasily from one foot to the other. "Yes, Keziah, it's—it's me, thank you. I only wanted to see Mr. Ellery."

"He's out. Good day."

"I wanted to ask his advice about something. It's a secret. Only him and me know about it. Good-by. I'll find Mr. Ellery."

"I wouldn't go to the Danieleses, if I was you. Elkanah might not like to have you chasin' after his visitors."

"Oh, the minister ain't at the Danieleses, not as late's this, he ain't. I know where he is. I know where he goes Sunday afternoons—and why he goes, too. Mr. Ellery and me's good friends. We understand each other."

"Look here, Kyan Pepper! What are you talkin' about?"

"I just said I knew where Mr. Ellery goes every Sunday afternoon. He don't know anybody knows, but I do. That's all there is to it. I shan't tell. So—"

"Tell? Do you mean there's something Mr. Ellery wouldn't want told? Don't you dare—I will see Laviny!"

"No, no, no, no. 'Tain't nothin' much. I just know where he goes after he leaves Elkanah's and who he goes to meet. I—Lordy! I hadn't ought to say that! I—Keziah Coffin, don't you ever tell I told you. I've said more'n I meant to. If it comes out there'd be the biggest row in the church there ever was. And I'd be responsible! I would! I'd have to go on the witness stand and then Laviny would find out how I—Oh, oh, oh! what shall I do?"

"What is it?" she persisted. "What would bring on the row in the church? Who does Mr. Ellery meet? Out with it! What do you mean?"

"I mean that the minister meets that Van Horne girl every Sunday afternoon after he leaves Elkanah's. There, now! It's out, and I don't give a darn if they hang me for it."

Keziah turned white. She seized Mr. Pepper by the lapel of his Sunday coat and shook him.

"Grace Van Horne!" she cried. "Mr. Ellery meets Grace Van Horne on Sunday afternoons? Where?"

"Down in them pines back of Peter's pasture on the edge of the bank over the beach. He's met her there every Sunday for the last six weeks—longer, for what I know. I've watched 'em. I ain't lyin'! It's so. I'll bet you anything they're there now, walkin' up and down and talkin'. What would I want to lie for? You come with me this minute and I'll show 'em to you."

"Bish Pepper," she said slowly and fiercely, shaking her finger in his face, "you go straight home and stay there. Don't you breathe a word to a livin' soul of what you say you've seen. Don't even think of it, or—dream it. If you do I'll—I'll march straight to Laviny and tell her that you asked me to marry you. I will, as sure as you're shakin' in front of me this minute. Now you swear to me to keep still. Swear!"

"How—how'll I swear?" begged Kyan. "What do you say when you swear? I'll say it, Keziah! I'll say anything! I'll—"

"All right. Then mind you remember. Now clear out quick. I want to think. I must think. Go! Get out of my sight!"

Kyan went, glad to escape, but frightened to the soul of him. Keziah watched him until he turned from the main road into the lighthouse lane. Then, certain that he really was going straight home, she re-entered the parsonage and sat down on the nearest chair. For ten minutes she sat there, striving to grasp the situation. Then she arose and, putting on her bonnet and shawl, locked the dining-room door and went out through the kitchen. She was going to the pine grove by the shore, going to find out for herself if Kyan's astonishing story was true.

The pines were a deep green blotch against the cloudy sky and the gloomy waters of the bay. She skirted the outlying clumps of bayberry and beach plum bushes and entered the grove.

Then she heard low voices. As she crouched at the edge of the grove, two figures passed slowly across the clearing, along the bush bordered path and into the shrubbery beyond. John Ellery was walking with Grace Van Horne. He was holding her hand in his and they were talking very earnestly. Keziah did not follow. What would have been the use? This was not the time to speak. She knew now and she knew, also, that the responsibility was hers. She must go home at once, go home to be alone and to think. She tiptoed back through the grove and across the fields.

Yet if she had waited, she might have seen something else, which would have been, at least, interesting. She had scarcely reached the outer edge of the grove when another figure passed stealthily along that narrow path by the bluff edge. A female figure treading very carefully, rising to peer over the bushes at the minister and Grace. The figure of Miss Annabel Daniels, the "belle" of Trumet. And Annabel's face was not pleasant to look upon.

CHAPTER X.

In Which Captain Eben Receives a Caller.

At the edge of the bluff, just where the pines and the bayberry bushes were thickest, where the narrow, crooked little footpath dipped over the rise and down to the pasture land and the salt meadow, John Ellery and Grace had halted in their walk. The minister's face was pale, but set and determined, and he was speaking rapidly.

"I can't help it," he said. "I can't help it. I have made up my mind and nothing can change it, nothing but you. It rests with you. If you say yes, then nothing else matters. Will you say it?"

He was holding both her hands now, and though she tried to withdraw them, he would not let her.

Rising to Peep Over the Bushes at the Minister and Grace.

"Will you?" he pleaded.

"I can't," she answered brokenly. "I can't. Think of your church and of your people. What would they say if—"

"I don't care what they say," she shook her head.

"Some of them might respect you," she said. "They would say you had been led into this by me and were not so much to blame. But I—"

"They shall respect my wife," he interrupted, snapping his teeth together, "or I'll know the reason why."

"I can't! I can't! My uncle—"

"Your uncle shall hear it from me. We'll go to him together. I'll tell him myself. He worships you."

"Yes, I know. He does worship me. That's why I am sure he had rather see me dead than married to you, a Regular, and a Regular minister. I know—I know he would never consent. His heart is set on something else. Nat—"

"Nat? Are you considering him, too? Is he to stand between us? What right has he to say—"

"Hush! hush! He hasn't said anything. But—but he and uncle have quarreled, just a little. I didn't tell you, but they have. And I think I know the reason. Nat is Uncle Eben's idol. If the quarrel should grow more serious, I believe it would break his heart. I couldn't bear to be the cause of that; I should never forgive myself."

"You the cause? How could you be the cause of a quarrel between those two? Grace, think of me."

"John," she said, "it is of you I am thinking. Everything else could—might be overcome, perhaps. But I must think of your future and your life. I must. That is why—"

He did not wait to hear more. He seized her in his arms and kissed her. "Then you do care!" he cried joyfully. "You will marry me?"

For an instant she lay quiet in his embrace, receiving, if not responding to his caresses. Then she gently but firmly freed herself. He saw that there were tears in her eyes.

"I don't know," she sobbed. "Oh, I don't know! I must think—I must! Wait, please wait, John. Perhaps by to-morrow I can answer. I'll try—I'll try. Don't ask me again, now. Let me think. Oh, do!"

She started down the path. He hesitated, then ran after her.

"To-morrow?" he questioned eagerly. "To-morrow, then, you'll say that you will?"

"Oh, perhaps, perhaps! I mustn't promise. Good night."

It was after seven when Grace reached the old tavern. The housekeeper, Mrs. Poundberry, was anxiously awaiting her. She wore her bonnet and Sunday gown and was evidently ready to go.

"Supper's on the table and the kettle's abillin'. You better eat in a hurry, 'cause it's meetin' time now. Your uncle, he started ten minutes ago. I'm agoin' right along, too, but I ain't goin' to meetin'; I'm agoin' up to Betsy E's to stay all night. She's got a spine in her back, as the feller said, and ain't feelin' good, so I told her I'd come and stay a little spell. Your Uncle Eben's mighty feeble and peaked lately. He ain't long for this world, I'm afraid. You ought to be awful good to him, Grace."

"I know it," was the hurried reply. "Where's Nat?"

"I don't know. Can't keep track of him. Might as well try to put your finger on a flea. He's here to-day and gone yesterday, as the Scriptur' says. He ate a little mite of supper, but not much, and then off he puts."

She reached the gate by this time, and Grace shut off the flow of conversation by closing the door. Then she took a candle from the row on the dining-room mantle, lighted it and went up to her own room. Standing before the old-fashioned bureau with its little oval mirror, she hastily arranged her hair. She did not wish to go to prayer meeting at the chapel, but she felt that she must. The Come-Outers gatherings, with their noisy singing and shouting, had grown more and more repugnant to her.

She blew out the candle and came out into the hall at the head of the stairs. She was about to descend when she heard voices. The doors of the dining room opened and closed. She felt certain that Nat had returned and wondered who was with him. Then she heard her uncle's voice, speaking sharply and with unwonted sternness.

"I don't know what 'tis you want to see about," said Captain Eben. "You say it's important; well, it's got to be to keep me from my meetin'. I ought to be on the Lord's business this minute and nothin' worldly's goin' to keep me from servin' Him. So speak quick. What is it?"

The voice that answered was one that Grace recognized, though she had never before heard in it the note of agitation and undignified excitement. There were no ponderous pauses and "Hum—ha's" now.

"Don't be a fool, Hammond!" it said. "And don't stand there preaching. Lock that door! Get a lamp! Are you sure there's nobody but us in the house?"

Captain Elkanah Daniels! Captain Elkanah visiting a Come-Outers! and the leader of the Come-Outers! Grace caught her breath. What in the world—She started to descend and then a thought flashed to her mind. She stopped short.

"I ain't the fool, Elkanah," she heard her uncle retort sternly. "The fools are them who are deaf to the call from on high. My foot was on the threshold of His house when you led me astray. It's never halted there afore. I warn you—"

"Stop! Shut up! Eben Hammond, I tell you that your precious church—res and mine, the Regular church of Trumet—will go to rack and ruin if you and me don't pull together this night."

"And I tell you, Elkanah Daniels, I'll have no blasphemy here. That little sanctuary up the road is founded on a rock and neither you nor any of your Pharisee'n priest-worshipin' crew can shake it. The Almighty'll protect His own. As for the Regular church, that's no concern of mine."

"But I tell you 'tis your concern. Or if the church isn't, your own family is."

There was an instant of silence. Grace, crouching on the stairs, noticed the change in her uncle's voice as he answered.

"My own family?" he repeated slowly. "My own—And the Regular church—What do you mean? Has Nat—"

"No, he ain't. But that cussed girl of yours—"

"Stop!" shouted Captain Hammond. "Elkanah Daniels, for your own sake now, be careful. If you daunt to say a word, another word like that, I'll—"

"If I daunt! The hussy! But there's no use talkin' to you. You're as crazy as a Bedlamite. Either that, or you're in the game with her. If you are, I warn you—"

"Stop! What game? What game do you mean? Grace! My Grace! What is it? For mercy sakes, Elkanah—"

"Humph! I wondered if I couldn't get some sense into you, finally. Lock that door!"

"I will! I will! But Elkanah—"

"Lock it! Give me the key!"

The click of the lock sounded sharply.

"Where's the lamp?" demanded Daniels. "And the matches? Don't stand there shaking."

A smel of sulphur floated out into the hall. Then the sickly glow of the "fluid" lamp shone through the doorway.

"What ails you?" asked Elkanah. "Are you struck dumb? Now go and see if there's anybody else in the house."

"But—but there ain't. I know there ain't. Hannah's gone and Grace's at meetin' by this time."

"She? Humph! Well, maybe she's at meetin' and maybe she isn't. Maybe she's over in Peters's pines, hugging and kissing that man she's met there every Sunday for I don't know how long—Here! let go, you old fool! Let go, I tell you!"

"You liar!" snarled Captain Eben. "You low-lived liar! By the Almighty, Elkanah Daniels! I'll—You take that back or I'll choke the everlasting soul out of you. I will—"

"Let go, you lunatic! You'll kill yourself. Listen! I'm not lying. It's the truth. She's met a man, I tell you. Been meeting him for months, I guess. There! now will you listen?"

"His name's John Ellery, and he's minister of the Regular church in this town; that's who he is! Here! hold up! Good Lord! are you dying? Hold up!"

The girl on the stairs sprang to her feet. Her head was reeling and she could scarcely stand, but she blindly began the descent. She must go to

GET RID OF RHEUMATISM

Rubbing with liniments, blistering the affected parts, the application of plasters, and other means of external treatment, are usually helpful in relieving the pains and aches of Rheumatism. But such treatment does not get rid of the disease, because it does not reach its source. Rheumatism comes from an excess of uric acid in the blood. This acid acts as an irritant to the nerves, muscles and joints, and produces the inflammation and swelling, and sharp cutting pains characteristic of the trouble.

When the blood is overburdened with uric acid it grows thinner and poorer in nourishing qualities. Then Rheumatism becomes chronic and not only a painful but a dangerous disease. You can get rid of Rheumatism by purifying the blood with S. S. S. This vegetable remedy goes into the circulation, neutralizes and removes the uric acid, and by building up the thin, sour blood, safely and surely cures the disease. S. S. S. makes rich, nourishing blood, which quiets excited nerves, eases the painful muscles and joints and filters out every particle of irritating uric acid from the system. her uncle. She must. But Captain Daniels's voice caused her to halt once more.

"There! there!" it said in a tone of relief. "That's better. Set still now. Be quiet, that's it. Shall I get some water?"

"No, no! let me be. Just let me be. I ain't what I used to be and this—I'm all right, I tell you, Grace! And—and—What was it you just said? I—I don't believe I heard it right."

"I said that daughter of yours, or niece, or whatever she is, this Grace Van Horne, has been meeting young Ellery, our minister, in Peters's grove. Been meeting him and walking with him, and kissing him. She's met him in those pines every Sunday afternoon for a long time. She was seen there with him this afternoon."

"Who—who saw her?"

"Never mind. The one that did'll never tell—unless it's necessary. They are fixing to be married, and—"

"Married! She marry a Regular minister! Oh—"

"Hush! Listen! They ain't married yet. We can stop 'em, you and I, if we get right to work. It isn't too late. Will you help?"

"Will I—I—Go on! tell me more!"

"We can stop 'em. I know it would be a good catch for her, the sneaking, designing—Well, never mind. But it can't be. It shan't be. You've got to tell her so, Hammond. We folks of the Regular church have pride in our society; we won't have it disgraced. And we have been proud of our minister, the young, rattle-headed fool! We'll save him if we can. If we can't—the speaker's teeth grated—"then we'll send him to eternal smash or die trying."

"But I can't believe it's true. It's a mistake; some other girl and not Grace. Why, she don't even know him. She wouldn't—But she has been out every Sunday afternoon for weeks. If it should be!"

The chair creaked. Evidently, Captain Eben was rising slowly to his feet.
